Checkly

Nov. 30/94

Motion with reference to occupancy the respondent father. Father to have in accordance with Sch. A. attached to this endorsement.

Christmas access - consent in accordance with Sch. B., attached to this endorsement.

The respondent father to pay ^{interim} child support of $700.⁰⁰ per each child. (1400)
per month and ^{interim} spousal support of $100.⁰⁰ per month Commencing Dec. 1/94 X

The amount of support pursuant to the order of March 2 dated Sept 28/94 are to be paid by Jan 31, 1995 otherwise the respondent's further pleadings will be struck out.

Items of personal property are to be reserved by the parties.

In arriving at the interim order for support I have based this upon the respondent mother receiving U.I.C. benefits and not being employed.

I have also considered the tax benefits and consequences.

I have used father's income of 67,500 less the pension deduction of 3,794.⁰⁰

If there is a material change in circumstances of either party, this may bring a further motion regarding the support.

My interim order of custody was to ... to conduct class - Examinations in the various affidavits. I also anticipated the trial could be heard in the spring of 1995. If that is not the case then I will consider hearing a further motion regarding interim custody when all evas. examinations are completed.

There will be a order for mental restraining orders.

If any problems arise Counsel may speak to me with short notice.
